SIASIC'S SUPPORT TEAM

In the organization and the hosting of its 3rd Annual SIASIC Conference, SIASIC has had an army of supporters behind it that has done many wonders in making this event a success. This event did not happen overnight and the wheels started rolling weeks ago. The diligent and reliable SIASIC interns who are currently students at Strathmore Law School have continuously been available to offer their bird-eye for details, read, proof-read, research, speak to our esteemed guests and offer their motivation and support where they could in making the conference a fantastic accomplishment. To Maryanne and Francisca, for not only offering logistical support but also their stewardship and the constant words of encouragement that pushed this project through. To our service providers, Strathmore Communications Department, the Strathmore IT department, Qbettech, Travel Affairs, Ibis Multimedia and Accolade Supplies for their tirelessness, flexibility, willingness and all they had to put up with to deliver. SIASIC is honoured to have worked with each of you and to have been part of this great achievement.

SIASIC is also extremely grateful to the International Nuremberg Principles Academy for the partnership that has made this conference possible - which extends beyond financial contribution. The Academy has contributed to the program, providing feedback and support with communications and publication of this event. This support is very much appreciated - with a special mention to Klaus Rackwitz - Executive Director; Dr Viviane Dittrich - Deputy Executive Director; Dr Serge Brammertz - Vice Chair of the Board; Petra Hartel - Head of Administration; and Evelyn Mueller - Communications; as well as the entire team in Nuremberg for the continued support and partnership with SIASIC.
